STARTLING WAR RUMOR.

EXCITEMENT ON THE LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

A Report That Britain and France Were Quarrelling Over Morocco—The Khedive Dead—Discovery of the Influenza Bacilles—Railway Collision.

MADRID, Jan. 6.—Owing to the threatening condition of affairs at Tangier in Morocco, the Thunderer and another British war vessel have appeared off that port and the British minister has, it is reported, notified the Governor of Tangier that a force of British will be landed to maintain order and protect foreign residents unless the Governor is able to assure the safety of the town against the rebel tribes in the vicinity.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—The Stock Exchange to-day is in a state of wild excitement on account of a very warlike rumor. The report as spread is to the effect that the British war vessels at Tangier have landed a force of bluejackets and marines at that place. It is stated that the French admiral there has given the British admiral notice that France gives England 24 hours in which to re-embark her landing party, and that if this is not done the French fleet will attack the British warships. It is supposed that this startling report is simply a canard circulated by bourse speculators, but the excitement prevailing shows how dangerous the situation in Morocco is believed to be. Enquiries made at the Admiralty and at the Foreign Office fail to obtain confirmation or denial of the news referred to, but the report has spread with marvellous rapidity, and the report, though discredited on all sides, is causing a most dangerous feeling in the stock market.

Insane or a Thief.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 7.—A few days ago a well dressed woman at the jewelry store of Skooler & Co. purchased some diamonds, representing herself as the niece of Mrs. C. A. Whitney, one of the wealthiest residents of New Orleans. The caller did not have the money to pay for the diamonds and a clerk accompanied her home to get it. She went into Mrs. Whitney's to show the diamonds to her aunt, she said, the clerk remaining outside. He waited for half an hour, and becoming alarmed, he began a search, but the woman had mysteriously disappeared, and no one in the house could account for her. The police and the detective agents have been on the alert ever since. Yesterday she attempted to pawn some of the diamonds, and the police were summoned, but again she mysteriously disappeared, leaving the diamonds behind. They were identified by Mr. Skooler. To-day the police accused Mrs. Henry Von Phul of being the thief, just as she was about to leave town for Baton Rouge. Several diamonds and other jewelry were pointed out by her in her house as those she had taken from stores. Mrs. Von Phul comes of one of the oldest and most highly respected creole families in the state. Her husband was formerly a rich sugar planter of Baton Rouge, and her son is a well known St. Louis millionaire. The family assert that Mrs. Von Phul is insane, and say that she was once in an insane asylum.

Another Railway Collision.

UTICA, N.Y., Jan. 6.—The early morning freight and accommodation train on the New York, Ohio and Western railroad at Smyrna was run into by a light engine to-day. The engineers of both locomotives were killed. One man is missing. Three men were killed: Engineer Young, of Utica; Engineer Speedy, of Oswego, and Fireman Cady, of Norwich. The boilers of both engines exploded soon after they struck. The explosion was terrific. It shook the ground like an earthquake, rattled windows in houses some distance away and awakened people generally. The engines were twisted and broken into scrap iron.

A Storm in New York.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Snow began falling this morning and at daybreak the city was covered with about two inches of the beautiful. The storm continued up to 11 o'clock, when the wind shifted to the south and warmer weather prevailed. All traffic on the streets and railroads was impeded, some of the suburban trains being delayed over an hour. Reports from the immediate vicinity and throughout the state show that the snowfall in some places has been very heavy.

Victims of the Grippe.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—On New Year's morning Austin Green, of this city, and his wife and three children, all girls, the oldest being eight years of age, returned from St. Louis, where Mr. Green had gone for medical attendance. The same day one of the children died suddenly, and in a few hours the whole family were in bed with the grippe. On Sunday last the little one was borne to the grave, unaccompanied by either of her parents. Later in the day the two others expired. Yesterday they were buried, the parents being still unable to leave their beds.

His Neck Was Broken.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Jan. 6.—Arnold Albrecht, city editor of the Toledo (German) Express, met death last evening while on his way home. He boarded an electric car and remained on the platform outside. As the car rounded a curve Albrecht lost his balance and fell to the ground, striking on his head in such a manner as to break his neck. He was an old and well known resident of Toledo, and leaves a family.

BEHRING SEA.

The Arbitration Arrangement Said to Have Been Interrupted.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The reported hitch in the preliminary arrangement for arbitration on the Behring Sea question is supposed to centre upon this passage in Secretary of State Blaine's dispatch to Sir Julian Pauncefote of April 14 last: "The President does not object to the additional question respecting alleged damages to English ships, proposed by Lord Salisbury, if one condition can be added, namely, that after the issues of the arbitration are joined, if the United States shall prevail, all the seals taken out by Canadian vessels during the period shall be paid for at the ordinary price for which skins are sold." This seems to be the complement of Lord Salisbury's proposition, and he doubts not it will secure his Lordship's consent. It has been a standing complaint by the United States in all fisheries negotiations, not only on the seal question, but also in respect to the seizure of the Sayward, which case is now before the Supreme Court, and all the other fishery troubles, that the British Government refers these matters to the Domion Government, who delayed their reply for months. In the present instance the probability is that Mr. Blaine's proposition of last April has only just met with a Canadian objection. The practical result of the delay may possibly be to prevent the issue of joint instructions in regard to seal poaching until the Canadian seal poachers have all sailed, next May. Secretary Blaine could not be seen this afternoon about the published report that there was a hitch in the Behring Sea dispute negotiations. Assistant Secretary Charton, when asked about the matter, was extremely reticent, and declined either to affirm or deny the reported stop to arbitration occasioned by Lord Salisbury's alleged demand for a further modification of the agreement reached last November as a basis for arbitration. He added, however, that the negotiations were still in progress, and, to that extent, at least, discredited the truth of the report. Attorney-General Miller was seen this afternoon, and when asked about the truth of the report simply declined to say anything about it, for the reason that it was a state department matter.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—In diplomatic circles the opinion prevails that the hitch in the Behring Sea negotiations at present is the change in the attitude of the British Government regarding the number of arbitrators. The original proposition to which the United States assented was that each country should name a single arbitrator and those two should agree upon a third. The British Government now asks that the number be increased to seven, the United States to name two, Great Britain two, and the four to choose three more.

The Influenza Bacillus.

ROME, Jan. 6.—The public schools at Genoa and Milan have been closed in consequence of the epidemic of influenza. So many inhabitants of those cities have been prostrated that the transaction of business has been greatly impeded.

BERLIN, Jan. 5.—Pfeiffer, son-in-law of the distinguished Professor Koch, has discovered the influenza bacillus and transplanted it in six cases with complete success. He has also discovered that the original cause of infection of the influenza bacillus is the smallest yet discovered. Another doctor of Berlin, an assistant in the city hospital, discovered the microbe of influenza almost simultaneously with Pfeiffer. The latter discovered the germ in sputum, while the former found it in the blood. This microbe organism strongly resembles the common inflammatory microbe, Streptocroccus pyogeni.

France and Bulgaria.

PARIS, Jan. 6.—The action of the government, now that Bulgaria in effect has refused to grant its demands, is eagerly awaited. The exchange of notes between the powers is actively proceeding. It is stated that Bulgaria sent copies of her reply to French demands to England, Austria, Italy and Germany. The note expresses the hope that France will be actuated by feelings of justice, that she will reconsider her decision, and that she will again establish friendly relations with Bulgaria.

The Khedive is Dead.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—A dispatch from Cairo says the Khedive is dead. The attack of influenza from which he has been suffering developed into congestion of the lungs, with cardiac affection. He died this afternoon.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—The British bark Scotch Hero, which arrived at Queenstown from Oregon, had several severe gales on the voyage. She lost a portion of her sails and bulwarks.

ONE COMMISSION CLOSED.

THE FINAL SITTING IN THE BELYEA CASE TO-DAY.

The Attorney-General Springs a Question of Antecedents and Mr. Belyea Warmly Responds, But Nothing Further Comes of it—Closing Speeches.

There was a formidable array of legal lore on the table before his Lordship Mr. Justice Crease this morning when he opened the proceedings in the Belyea Royal Commission, but it was found that this depletion of the Law Library was only for the purposes of reference by some Vancouver lawyers in appeals to the full court.

Chief of City Police Sheppard deposed to May having asked him for a warrant to arrest Hattie May. Mr. Sheppard offered to send a constable to interview the girl with her father, but May did not want this, he wanted the girl brought to him. Thereupon Mr. Sheppard told May it was a case of habeas corpus, and accordingly introduced him to Mr. Belyea. May said his daughter had written that she was in service at the Fried's at $15 a month. There was nothing said in witness' presence about a fee, either in the police court or anywhere else. Mr. Belyea told Mr. May he would introduce him to a lawyer. Mr. Belyea asked witness what kind of people the Frieds were, and he told the magistrate they were respectable people, so far as the chief knew. May wanted a warrant for the girl; he used the word warrant. Mr. Belyea told May the best way he could proceed was to get a lawyer and have her brought before the Supreme Court if he wanted possession of her. May might have said he didn't know any lawyer; he left with Mr. Belyea. Next saw May in the Attorney-General's office. Didn't notice any shorthand reporter in the office at first, but saw a young fellow hand Mr. Davie a note and go out. Didn't notice his presence before. The note came from the east side of the desk where Mr. Davie was sitting. It was one of those roller desks; a very high desk. I was in a better position to see this than Mr. Belyea.

His Lordship—Have you any objection to my seeing your office, Mr. Attorney-General?

Mr. Davie—None whatever, my Lord. You can go there whenever you please.

Witness—I don't suppose we were there over ten minutes. Mr. Davie read a statement over to Mr. Belyea, but I don't remember anything in it but something about $20. I went over there in answer to a request from the Attorney-General, and got there some minutes before Mr. Belyea. There was no conversation on the merits of the case before Mr. Belyea came. Saw Fried between 5 and 6 o'clock again the same day. First saw the girl about 8 o'clock outside the police court office. This was after the arrest of Fried. I didn't speak to her. I won't be sure whether May was there or not. I was in the police court at the investigation before Mr. Belyea. Mr. May was there.

Mr. Taylor asked the chief if Mr. Walls did not make a certain statement there, and the question created some discussion.

Mr. Davie—I don't know whether your Lordship is going to allow that. Mr. Walls, I think, is the proper person to hear on that.

Mr. Taylor—It is in there now, in the depositions before your Lordship now.

Some discussion ensued on the admissability of the question, when

Mr. Davie said this is all being done for the newspapers, and it is just as well that your Lordship understand it. I therefore withdraw all objections, because I think it will be much better to allow my learned friend to have his fling and bring the whole thing out.

His Lordship—I am not of that opinion. I want to know is it a statement which Mr. Walls can be examined upon.

Attorney-General—I think we had better know the statement, my Lord.

His Lordship—It is not regular.

Attorney-General—I know it is not regular.

Mr. Taylor proceeded to address the Attorney-General when his Lordship interrupted him with: You seem as if you were talking to the galleries.

Attorney-General—That's about the size of it.

His Lordship—Will you please keep silence in court, Mr. Attorney?

Addressing Mr. Taylor, his Lordship said: You are so earnest, so entusiastic (and it is a very good thing for counsel to be earnest in the case they may be engaged in) that you forget that it is to me especially that remarks are to be directed, just as if I were judge and jury together. If it were 50,000 people and as many newspapers that were dealing with the question, I should act just the same.

Mr. Taylor—I don't care two straws for the newspapers; I haven't said anything about the newspapers. In fact my learned friend is the one of so delicate fibre that seems to have been touched in any way.

Mr. Taylor to witness—Do you remember anything being said there about the girl being present?

Mr. Sheppard—Yes, it was mentioned by Mr. Walls that she was outside the Police Court.

Q—Nothing said about May being there?

A—I really forget.

Q—At all events can you say whether or not she was there?

A—Oh, yes; I saw her there.

Mr. Davie—You say that May told you he wanted to arrest his daughter; you told him you would send a constable with him to interview his daughter; he said he didn't want that, he wanted his daughter brought to him? A—Yes.

Q—He didn't seem to be very anxious to get his daughter?

A—He didn't seem to me. I thought it was a case for habeas corpus, and I told him so. He said his daughter left Seattle with Mrs. Mara.

Q—You made an affidavit or declaration in this matter on the 9th September? A—Yes.

Q—At whose request? A—I forget now.

Q—You remember all these circumstances, yet you forget at whose request you made this affidavit? A—I said I forget now.

Q—You have rather a poor memory? A—Generally very good.

Q—But upon that subject not very good? A—Yes.

Q—Now can you say what was your object in making that affidavit?

A—I really don't know just at present.

Q—You don't know that the object was the laying of this case before the Government?

A—I believe it was.

Q—You can't recollect who asked you to make that affidavit or what the object was?

A—I believe it was yourself.

Q—Just be kind enough to look at this affidavit. Did you not make that affidavit on the request of Mr. Belyea?

A—Yes, I did.

Q—Isn't your memory rather defective in this whole matter?

Witness said that when Mr. Belyea told May that a habeas corpus was the proper course, witness was not surprised, nor was he surprised when he heard that Mr. Belyea had intimated that a fee of $20 would be required.

Q—On your oath did not Mr. Belyea's conduct strike you as very singular, the action he took in this Fried matter?

Mr. Taylor—That is a matter of opinion.

Mr. Sheppard—I thought something of that kind; I thought he ought to take it to some other lawyer.

Mr. Taylor—I object to that.

Mr. Davie—You thought it was unbecoming. Didn't you think it so unbecoming that you wrote to Fredericton at that time to enquire into Mr. Belyea's antecedents.

Mr. Taylor—I object to that. I ask your Lordship—

His Lordship—I do not wish anything to be brought into this commission that is not immediately connected with it.

Mr. Taylor—Then I have nothing to say.

Mr. Belyea—I am the person most vitally interested here, and I want to know the facts of this. If Mr. Davie wants to go into antecedents I am ready for him any day.

The question was not answered, the learned judge not desiring that the witness should answer it.

Mr. F. B. Gregory, Mr. Belyea's partner, gave evidence, which substantially corroborated that given by Mr. Belyea himself as to what occurred in their office. He did not think that May was acting from fatherly motives; he seemed as though he didn't care whether she stayed with him or not, all he wanted was to get her. He sort of cross-questioned Mr. May with a view of finding out what he intended to do with the girl, because witness saw by one of the letters something about cruelty, and Mr. Fried started to say something of the same nature, when Mr. Belyea came in and the conversation dropped. Witness questioned May very particularly as to the girl, what she had been doing and what he was going to do, but he only repeated "I want my girl; I don't care whether she only remains two hours or not; I am bound to have her." Witness said to Mr. Belyea: "I don't think that Mr. May is influenced by proper motives," believing that if a case of cruelty was made out it would be fatal to the habeas corpus proceedings. I thought that such a defence would be set up by the Frieds and I said to Mr. Belyea "I don't think this man is influenced by proper motives, and the best thing we can do is to make him pay in advance; he will probably not pay, and that will be the end of it.

Cross-examined by Mr. Davie—I did not think it was a case for a guarantee of success. No case is, and no respectable solicitor would give one.

Mr. Taylor then proceeded to review the facts of the case which he thought was very much in accord with the old Bab ballad. The Attorney-General was very much in the position of the hero of the Nancy Bell. He was the complainant, the advocate and chief witness for the prosecution.

The Court—It is not prosecution.

Mr. Taylor—Persecution, then.

The Court—That's worse.

Mr. Taylor said Mr. Attorney-General wanted to make out that this was a proper course. Mr. Taylor would endeavor to show that this was not so.

His Lordship pointed out the object of this enquiry as before stated, and wished to impress that upon the counsel.

Mr. Taylor said this particular charge, persecution or prosecution was not founded on a high regard for the administration of the law, but there was another object behind it. What could be the object of inserting statements that appeared in May's declaration if not to try to show that the police magistrate had tried to turn May from a proper course to recover his daughter, to one which would put money into the coffers of Belyea & Gregory. May himself says in the box that those statements were not true; why were they allowed to be sworn to? The fact of the inaccuries were pointed out before the declaration was sworn to. There was his own (the Attorney-General's) statement that he drafted this declaration. They had been denied by Mr. Belyea before they were even copied out on the type writer. Why were they not rectified? It is singular that this declaration was taken as the whole truth; this commission is founded on that declaration, and when it was proved that this declaration is found to be false in these important points there is nothing calling for an adverse report from the commissioner to the Government. Mr. Belyea had clearly advised May that he could do nothing for him as police magistrate, his case was a civil one. Mr. Belyea was not engaged in the capacity of magistrate when he acted for May, and Mr. Taylor urged that when Mr. Belyea had advised May what his course was he had done nothing wrong in taking the case as a lawyer. It was also shown that the statement about the demand for $20

BARNUM'S BODY.

A Queer Story About the Mortal Remains of the Great Showman.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Jan. 7.—A great deal of discussion has been excited here by the report that Mr. P. T. Barnum's body was not in the casket which 10,000 people followed to the cemetery last April, but that it was a dummy of cloth and stones over which the Rev. Robert Collyer preached the funeral oration. The story at first gained little credence, but now it is alleged that it has been authenticated by the admission of a very near friend of the family. It is recalled that at the time of the funeral no one outside the family and a few intimate friends were allowed to view the body. This was said to be in accordance with Mr. Barnum's wishes, he fearing his face would look unnatural. Now his associates remember frequently of his horror lest his body might be stolen, as A. T. Stewart's was. It is known that he enjoined his family to guard against such a misfortune. His fear amounted almost to a mania. It is said now that some one of the attendants in the house at the time the coffin was closed has made statements which started the story as to a dummy corpse in the casket. Hawley, (Reynolds & Wilmot, the undertakers, profess great surprise and do not credit the story that a false casket was substituted for the one in which they placed Mr. Barnum's body. The story is that the body was concealed in Barnum's house, "Marina," until a few days after the funeral, when it was buried in the cemetery in a spot known only to Mrs. Barnum and her chosen friends, and that a year or two hence, when all danger from ghouls is past, it will be placed in the family plot beneath the granite slab which is now supposed to mark the grave.

A Brazilian Battle.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The United States and Brazil mail steamship Seguranca, which arrived this morning from Brazilian ports, brings news of an epidemic that has been raging at Santos for some time. She brings the first intimation of a bloody encounter between the troops and the people of Santos, in which thirty were killed outright and about 100 wounded. December 17 the government sent a military governor to Santos to replace the former governor of that place. The people regarded this as an act of tyranny and oppression. When the military governor appeared, surrounded by troops, they pelted him with stones and other missiles. The order then came to fire on the people, and at the first volley a dozen citizens fell dead, while a number were wounded. The revolutionists gave way, but quickly prepared to make a renewed and desperate resistance. The troops charged upon and drove them from the street, many citizens falling, pierced by bayonets or bullets. A pitched battle took place on one of the plazas, in which the citizens fought stubbornly, but the trained soldiers were too much for them.

Wants Puget Sound Fortified.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—In the Senate the Vice President took the chair at noon. Mr. Allen presented resolutions adopted by the Chamber of Commerce of Seattle, praying that Congress by some liberal appropriations enable the War and Navy Departments to place our country in a thorough condition of defence, so far as to be prepared to maintain its national dignity and protect its citizens in all parts of the world. Emphasizing these resolutions, he said the citizens of Washington State felt an interest in this question, inasmuch as there were two thousand miles of shore line along Puget Sound which could not withstand for a single hour an attack by a second class cruiser of a second class power. This was especially significant in view of the fact that immediately across the line were strongly fortified forts and a powerful fleet prepared to defend the dignity of the neighboring power. The Vice-President asked: "What does the senator ask to be made of those resolutions?" Mr. Allen: "I ask that they be referred to the committee on military affairs."

Blaine Was Taken Ill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 6.—Great excitement was caused in the Department of State this morning over the sudden illness of Secretary Blaine. The nature of his illness is not at present known, but it is said to be due altogether to a temporary stomachic derangement. The alarm subsided about noon, when the secretary, who was attended by a physician from the War and Navy Department, was reported resting quietly and entirely out of danger. The secretary was removed to his home in a carriage. He is now reported to be much improved, and is expected to be able to be about tomorrow.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—The Sun publishes the following from Washington, dated January 6:—"Thompson, the Central druggist, tells me that Mr. Blaine surely had a knockdown stroke like apoplexy this afternoon. (Signed) George Alfred Townsend."

Besides the New York contingent, there are delegates from Boston, Philadelphia, Reading, Rhode Island, etc., besides 25 or more invited guests. The train was composed of six vestibuled coaches, bearing the inscription "International League of Press Clubs." There was a buffet car, a smoker, dining car, compartment car for the ladies of the party, and three sleepers with staterooms. Stops will be made at Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo and other points, to pick up delegates. Chicago will be reached at 9:45 to-morrow morning, and San Francisco one week from to-day at 4 p. m. An elaborate programme has been prepared for their entertainment in San Francisco, and on the return journey three days will be allowed for stop-overs.

From Poverty to Affluence.

CHICO, Cal., Jan. 6.—Last Friday L. P. McIntyre, a private detective, of St. Johnsbury, Vt., arrived here, hired a team and went over to Glenn county, in search of J. M. Martin and wife, the latter being the rightful heir to a fortune left by her father, ex-Congressman Cross, of Vermont. About 10 years ago Bertha Cross met Martin in Washington, D.C. As the father opposed the marriage the couple eloped, and several years later came to California. The mother of the girl has since died, and last July the father died, leaving the entire fortune of about $1,000,000 to his only daughter. The detective has been searching since the father's death and finally located the daughter in Glenn county. Mrs. Martin for several years lived in this city. They have been living in poor circumstances and a month ago moved to Glenn county. Martin, wife and detective left yesterday for St. Johnsbury.

Austin Corbin was elected president of the road instead of J. A. Bostwick. French, Nikers and Sinclair, of the board of directors, resigned and Coffin, Prince and Parsons were elected to fill the vacancies. The stock of New York and New England is strong to-day.

A 'Frisco Dynamite Crank.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—Yesterday a man, poorly dressed, and about 30 years of age, entered the office of Wm. Foote, the well known attorney. He stated that Foote had won a judgment for $81,000,000 for him, and that he wanted the money. Foote was dumbfounded, and thoughts of Russell Sage's experience with Norcross in New York ran through his mind, but before he could deny having such a suit the crank said: "I will call to-morrow forenoon, and if you don't pay over the money I will use a dynamite bomb on you." He then walked out of the office and disappeared.

South Australian Politics.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—A dispatch from Adelaide, South Australia, says that the Treasurer and Premier, Hon. T. Playford; the Commissioner of Crown Lands, Hon. H. Cohley; the Commissioner of Public Works, Hon. W. H. Bounsevell, and the Minister of Education, Hon. D. Bewes, M.P.; the Chief Secretary, Hon. Sir J. C. Bray, and the Attorney-General, Hon. B. Hogburg, have resigned, and that their resignations have been accepted. The gentlemen mentioned formed the ministry of South Australia. The Governor of South Australia, the Earl of Kintore, has requested the ex-premier, Mr. Playford, to form a new cabinet.

A B. & O. Railway Disaster.

WHEELING, W.Va., Jan. 6.—A terrible accident has happened to the B. & O. Railway limited express to-day near Fairmouth, W. Va. A truck under one of the baggage cars broke down while the train was running 40 miles an hour and the train was completely derailed. Chas. Applegate, express messenger, of Newark, Ohio, and Geo. Halsam, baggage master, of Baltimore, were killed, and engineer Geo. Scham is dying. Thirteen passengers were more or less hurt, but the details are not yet to hand.

A STRANGE DOCUMENT.

ued by the United States Customs Authorities---Now Repudiated.

A Chinese merchant named Moy ung, of Portland, Ore., is in hard k. He came here from Portland ne weeks ago, and having, it is he said, erests in New Westminster and Victria, he now claims that he is illegally barred from returning to the United ates. Some time ago this paper pubhed an article showing up a perjury ctory in San Francisco where Chinese re supplied with documents which ight enable them to get past the ited States customs officers, but the aper produced by Moy Chung is of a ery official character, and could hardly e repudiated by the United States overnment.

It is a printed form, with the full lescription of Moy Chung on its face, nd states that it will allow the said Moy Chung to be admitted to the United States upon presentation to the proper officer. It is signed Isaac P. Calhoun, Deputy Collector of Customs of Port Townsend. It is sealed with the customs seal and has been vised and sealed by J. P. Alexander, British Consul. Its date is Nov. 30, 1889. Moy Chung says he paid a big sum for this paper at the Port Townsend custom house, and is now debarred from entering the States.

United States Consul Myers, being asked concerning the matter, says that no law on the United States statute books warrants the issuance of such a paper, and he is at a loss to know how it could have been procured at the Port Townsend custom house.

THE CIVIC ELECTIONS.

Numerous Aspirants---Good, Bad and Indifferent---The Mayoralty.

The election for mayor and aldermen, to be held next week, is beginning to excite some interest as the time approaches and the candidates become more numerous. The investigations by the Royal Commission and the probability of an early report, it was supposed, had a deterrent effect, especially upon aldermen who intended to offer their services for another term. Only a few of the present board are as yet in the field, and although it would be premature to state that all those who have not declared themselves are going to retire—for the candidate's mind is most erratic at election time—it does appear as if the council of 1892 would be different from that of 1891. It may, of course, be "different" without being an improvement. One or two good men have declared that they will not again accept the honor, and one or two good men are apparently "on the fence," since they have not as yet said anything about the matter. The gentlemen whose cards appear in another column are all the candidates that the TIMES has any official knowledge of.

The announcement that Ald. A. J. Smith is a candidate for the mayoralty will be a surprise to the majority of the electors. It was understood—in fact, we believe that it was promised by Mr. Smith himself—that he would support Hon. Mr. Beaven for that position. Mr. Smith has been in many respects an efficient alderman, particularly in looking after the interests of his own ward. With him it has been James Bay first and the rest of the city second. For that reason he will be a strong candidate in that ward, but his strength there will prove his weakness elsewhere. We shall not institute a comparison between Messrs. Beaven and Smith, or for the present refer to their respective qualifications for the highly responsible position of mayor. The probability is that Mr. Smith will be defeated by a large majority. At least that is our estimate of public feeling.

Geo. J. Cook, who is a candidate for Johnson street ward, is of opinion that no election should be by acclamation. Opposition is the life of politics, as of trade, and the more he receives the better he will like it—that is if it is not enough to defeat him, which he thinks quite improbable.

Dr. R. Morrison, coroner for the city, declares himself a candidate for James Bay ward. The doctor is so well known in his professional and official capacity that commendation would not improve nor adverse criticism decrease his chances of election.

Maurice Humber is to the fore again, and his friends, who are numerous, will see that he may be at the front when the ballots are counted. Mr. Humber was in the council for one year, and it was not his fault that he was not there for a dozen terms. He is a good man, and good men cannot make very bad mayors.

Ald. Bragg is receiving very general expressions of support. He is an intelligent workingman, who takes a keen interest in public affairs, and Johnson ward is pre-eminently the workingman's ward.

Ald. Aaron Lewis has been reluctantly compelled to retire from the field, in consequence of lack of property qualification. Mr. Lewis will take care that this mistake does not occur next year.

Ald. Macdonald announces himself in to-day's TIMES as a candidate in Yates street ward. As a contractor Mr. Macdonald has had a great deal of experience in street work, which would be useful to him as a member of the council.

Mr. J. C. Devlin, who has retired from the grocery trade and has time to devote to the duties of public life, is out for Johnson street ward, which seems to be the favorite ward for contestants. He publishes, at greater length than the other candidates, his views on civic government.

A Prize Mother-in-Law.

The young lady remarked:—"That gentleman's mother is my mother's mother-in-law." What relation was the young lady to the gentleman? THE QUEEN will give a Mason & Risch finetoned upright piano to the first person answering the above problem correctly. An elegant gold watch for the second correct answer, a China dinner set for the third correct answer, an elegant silk dress pattern for the fourth correct answer, and many other valuable prizes, all of which will be announced in the January issue of THE QUEEN. Valuable special prizes will be given for the first correct answers from each Province. As the object of offering these prizes is to attract attention to our popular family magazine, each person answering must enclose four three-cent stamps for sample number containing full particulars. Atlantic Mail Service.

At the next quarterly general meeting of the British Columbia Board of Trade, which is to be held at 3 p.m. Friday next, after routine work Mr. Beaumont Boggs will move the following resolution:—

"Whereas the mail between Canada and Great Britain is now forwarded via a United States port;

"And whereas the establishing of a permanent mail service is of national importance;

"Now therefore be it resolved that this Board unites with the Boards of Trade of the Maritime Provinces in their protest to the Dominion Government, and requests the representatives of this Province in the Dominion House of Commons to use their influence and support the granting of a subsidy only to a trans atlantic line of steamers having a Canadian port for a terminus."

Surer foundation cannot be laid than the real merit which is the solid base for the monumental success of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

HOW FISHHOOKS ARE MADE.

A Few Points of Interest to Anglers About Their Weapons.

The making of fishhooks is not merely a trade in itself; anglers consider that it is, properly speaking, an art. In England the best ones are made, because all manufactures of steel excel in that country, where every product of that material, from razors down, is beyond compare. Hooks of the first quality are made from the very best cast steel wire, which is turned out in coils at Sheffield and Birmingham.

The first process is to cut the wire into lengths suitable for the hooks to be made. Ordinary sizes are chopped off by the quantity with a machine, but the big ones for use in catching sharks and other big sea fishes are cut singly with a hammer and chisel. After the lengths of wire have been cut off another operator takes them and turns up the barbs by cutting into the yet soft metal with a knife upon an anvil. Next the straight pieces are taken in hand by a workman who files the points to keenness. Where the best hooks are concerned each one is manipulated separately, being held in pinchers while the necessary sharpness is given by a few dexterous strokes. Common hooks are pointed with one file, but the finer sorts require the application of two or three of different degrees of coarseness.

The points once made, another workman takes the bits of wire in hand, bending them round in a curved piece of steel so that each one shall have the characteristic flexure which makes the type of hook desired. The process of forming the instrument is now completed, save for the shank, which may either be a loop at the end of the wire or a flattening at the extremity. The flattening is done by one sharp blow with a hammer upon an anvil.

The final process is the tempering of the hooks to harden them, and when all these operations have been completed they are scoured in revolving barrels driven by steam power and filled with water and soft soap. When the friction has worn them bright they are dried in another revolving barrel containing sawdust.

In old times fishermen made their own hooks, using very much the same methods as are now practiced on a large scale in the factories. It is a very curious fact that during the bronze age when metals had first come into use, fishhooks had the same forms as now, even to the shanks and curves. The famous "Limerick" and "Shaughnessy" bends are absolute reproductions of those preferred in that early epoch.—Washington Star.

ARE YOUR FEET MATES?

If Not, You Belong to the Great Majority.

"Few people's feet are mates," mused the Broadway shoe dealer, as a customer departed.

"Which foot is the larger?"

"That depends."

"But how do you manage?"

"Oh, easy enough. The difference isn't great enough to cause any serious annoyance. However, the latest thing in the shoe line is intended for just such cases. It is known as the reversible shoe."

"That's odd."

"Both odd and even. This shoe," added the dealer, "is made with a flat sole. You will also observe that the shoe is not turned for the right or the left, as in ordinary shoes, but, being absolutely straight along the inner edge of the sole, may readily be worn on either foot.

"Shoes of this pattern are believed to be easier on the feet than the common article with turned soles. So if your feet are not mates, as is the case with most people, you may sleep sound at night now, for your case has been attended to in a scientific manner."

And the dealer stepped aside to fit a No. 2 shoe on a woman with a No. 5 foot.—N. Y. World.

FIGURES OF THE OLD WORLD.

THE revenue of bankrupt Egypt was £10,250,000 last year.

IN England and Wales there are 900,000 more women than men.

THE president of the Swiss republic receives but $3,000 per year.

WITHIN the last thirty years there have been on the British coast 66,377 wrecks, with the sad loss of 22,312 lives.

LUNACY appears to have increased in Scotland to a startling extent. In 1858 there were 5,824 lunatics on the register of the lunacy commissioners, but now there are 12,595.

THE Eiffel tower is evidently a financial success. Over £17,000 has been paid for admission to it by visitors since March 22 last, when this year's season commenced. During August, when Paris is always crowded with tourists, the receipts exceeded £4,000

KASLO CITY
The Centre of the Great Kootenay Mining District in B.C.

This young and thriving City is situated on Kootenay Lake at the mouth of Kaslo River, within close proximity to the famous Kaslo and Slocan mines.

The discoveries during the present year of numerous mines of remarkably rich ore and great width on Kaslo river and east of Slocan Lake are well known to the public. They have attracted the attention of capitalists and miners all over the continent, and there is no question that these mines, which are tributary to KASLO CITY, will receive more attention than those of any other section of Kootenay.

A spacious hotel has been built for the accommodation of travelers. Stores and other buildings have also been erected. The townsite is being cleared and streets graded so as to forward the large amount of building that will be in progress as soon as material is secured for construction. A trail has been built to the mines, which will be replaced by a wagon road as soon as the work can be prosecuted. The grade to the mines is an easy one. An application for a charter to build a railway line into the mines from Kaslo will be made at the coming session of the Legislature. Everything is being done that circumstances will permit to give easy access to the mines and furnish supplies for the miners. KASLO CITY will have a large population this summer. It will become the supply depot for the richest mining section yet discovered in British Columbia. Unlike many mountain towns, it is most favorably situated on a gentle slope from the waters of a sheltered bay on Kootenay Lake, and is supplied for domestic and manufacturing purposes, by a large stream of pure cold water.

If you wish to participate in the profits that enchanced values will bring, don't fail to invest in Kaslo City. Lots are on sale at the offices of all the Leading Real Estate Brokers in the Province.

WHO WAS HYPNOTIZED?

The Colonist, in its reflections on the school controversy, is doing Mr. McLeod a service which he is not likely soon to forget. It is defending the action of the Government in cancelling his certificate, and, to give some plausibility to its arguments, is forced occasionally to make a more or less remote allusion to the facts that go to justify or condemn the Government. As a matter of fact Mr. McLeod is now being tried by the Government through the Colonist. All the evidence that can be brought against him is presented with an ingenuity that would do credit to the legal gentlemen who give weight to the decisions of the Honorable the Council of Public Instruction. It is a rehash of the statements which Dr. Pope made, with fear and trembling, to the Council on the 27th Nov., 1891, and on the strength of which the Principal of the High School was led to the block. It is easier for one to argue with the Colonist than with the Council of Instruction, and is at the same time fraught with much less danger. The Council if it cannot reason or judge, can yet convict and punish. The Colonist, though it can argue with wonderful skill, is powerless to inflict material injury. The sentence of the High Court of Justice has been pronounced and duly executed, and as the ex-principal pleaded "not guilty" to the charges, the Government, through its organ, now graciously calls upon him to make his defence. And not until the defence is all in can it be decided whether it was Dr. Pope or Mr. McLeod that committed official suicide, or whether it was the Council of Public Instruction or the Principal of the High School that was "hypnotized."

The Colonist states its belief that "if the Principal of the High School had been a passive instrument in the hands of his worst enemies he could not have taken a course more opposed to his interests than he did." The TIMES for once heartily agrees with the Colonist. If Mr. McLeod had thrown away his self-respect and consulted his interests, as the Colonist has done; if he had submitted without a murmur to the indignities heaped upon him by the Superintendent of Education; if he had winked at injustice and had watched the slow but sure demoralization of the High School without entering a word of protest; in short, if he had been the pliant tool of the Education Department, the clay in the hands of the potter, his certificate of qualification would never have been cancelled, his position as principal would have been secure and his "interests" would not have been jeopardized. Has it come to this in a free country, which British Columbia is supposed to be that a teacher cannot suggest an improvement in matters pertaining to the schools or hint that injustice has been done at examinations or in any way criticise the actions of the Education Department in the public press without incurring the implacable ill-will of the Superintendent of Education and the censure of the Government of the Province? If things have come to such a pass as this, it is high time for men of spirit and independence to be up and doing. We have seen in some of the Eastern provinces teachers roundly berate superintendents of education and charge them to their face with incompetence without experiencing their displeasure or ill-will. And these superintendents were men of brains and men of learning, men the latchet of whose shoes Dr. Pope is not worthy to unloose

The Colonist finds fault with Mr. McLeod for writing "foolish" letters to the press while his case was still pending, and for assuming an attitude of defiance to the Council of Public Instruction. These are offences for which, in its opinion, there can be no forgiveness. We are surprised that the Colonist should be of the opinion that the press is no place in which to ventilate difficulties that may arise in connection with schools. Is the administration of educational affairs in this Province so rotten that it cannot stand a little newspaper criticism? The Colonist, however, is mistaken when it says that Mr. McLeod wrote "foolish" letters to the press about his own case. He is our authority for the statement that he wrote one letter and one only, and that was to the Colonist, and was merely a vindication of his course in bringing the school troubles before the Board of Trustees. If it was a foolish letter, it was very foolish of the Colonist to publish it.

It is absurd for the Colonist to try to make an intelligent public believe that Mr. McLeod defied the authority of the Council of Public Instruction. What he did and the reason for his actions were fully explained in our last issue. He did not refuse to tell what he knew. He was only too anxious to have the opportunity of laying before the Council what he knew of the matter if the Council would only give him a chance to do so. But the Council knew that he would never have made the charges had he not been positive that the papers themselves would not substantiate their correctness, and it was, therefore, afraid to produce them when by so doing it would expose to the world the incompetence of the gentleman presiding over the Education Department. Anyone not devoid of understanding must see that it would have been suicidal for the Principal of the High School to furnish the Superintendent of Education with the required names when the papers were not produced.

The Colonist still adheres to its assertion, first made nearly six months ago, that the Board of Trustees was not the proper authority to deal with the matter. Finding that it was grievously in error when it stated that the Council of Public Instruction was the only tribunal of competent jurisdiction, it tries to shuffle out of the difficulty by saying that the Board of Trustees owes its origin to the same law as the Council and was therefore unconstituted at the time the charges were made. Such prevarication should at once condemn the Colonist in the estimation of every fair minded person. The Colonist knows that Principal McLeod complained to the Superintendent first, and, on failing to obtain redress, he appealed to the old Board of Trustees. He never laid the matter before either the Council of Public Instruction or the hybrid body that is now called, by courtesy, the Board of Trustees of Victoria, until he was compelled by them respectively to do so. All of which the Colonist knows perfectly well, for these things were not done in a corner.

Though the TIMES does not profess to be a reader of men's hearts, yet it sometimes takes the liberty to judge of men's motives by their acts. If Dr. Pope goes contrary to written rule and standing precedent in his treatment of a teacher, and if he drugs the Council of Public Instruction with false evidence, on which that teacher's certificate is cancelled, we feel ourselves constrained to draw the conclusion that he is not actuated by any holy desire to do that teacher good.

ONTARIO'S MENTORS.

The fact that no Ontario members of the Cabinet are seen on the stump in the Ontario constituencies where bye elections are being held is much commented on in the East. The instruction of the Ontario electors in their duty towards the Government seems to be left entirely to ministers from the Maritime Provinces. Sir John Thompson, Mr. Tupper and Mr. Foster. The "premier province" must be in a bad way when it cannot supply a Cabinet Minister capable of defending the cause of the Government before the people. Even Mr. Haggart failed to put in an appearance in North Lanark, though he represents the other half of the same county in Parliament. As Sir Richard Cartwright rather sarcastically said at an Almonte meeting, "Mr. Haggart might have spared a moment or two for the purpose of improving the morals of the people of North Lanark." But Mr. Haggart and the other Ontario ministers seem content to stay in the background and allow the Nova Scotia and New Brunswick men the honor of upholding the Tory banner in the province. It may be remarked that Sir John Thompson has not come to the task without due preparation, for he has entirely cast aside the mask of purity and judicial impartiality which he was wont to wear, and makes reckless statements with a freedom and brazenness that would do credit to Sir Charles Tupper himself. The awful corruption shown to have existed in the departments is a mere bagatelle with him; the deplorable condition of the country as shown by the census is entirely pleasing. Unkind critics, however, have pointed out that the county of Antigonish, represented by Sir John, and the County of Pictou, represented by Mr. Tupper, have actually decreased in population within the past decade, a fact which the two Ministers conveniently ignore, but which speaks a good deal more forcibly than all their blatant assertions.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Minister Dewdney flatly denies the statements made by Mr. Davin that he trafficked in land on the Regina townsite in 1882. If he is innocent, it is to be expected that he will go further than this and force Mr. Davin to retract the charges he has made or face a libel suit.

The Republicans in the Ohio Legislature are experiencing much trouble in selecting a senator. One wing favors the re-election of Senator Sherman, while the other vigorously supports ex-Governor Foraker, and the fight is a uniform one. The chances would seem from last reports to be in favor of Sherman.

The Hamilton Spectator (Conservative) quotes a current item of news to the effect that Mr. Dewdney denies that he has been offered the lieutenant-governorship of British Columbia, and then offers this rather cruel comment: "The people of British Columbia will rejoice at this; but in the east we are saddened by the reflection that what is their gain may be our loss."

TALK OF THE CHILDREN.

A BOSTON boy recently defined a wedding as nothing but a prayer meeting with a sociable after it.

WILLIE—"Aunt Jennie says she has a crick in her back." Susie—"Gracious! It beats all how some people do perspire, doesn't it?"

"MEN are not born free in this country," said Willie. "There ain't no worse bulldozed slave in creation than my baby brother."

MR. FANGLE—"Why, Johnny, what's the matter with you?" Johnny (who had just dropped some macaroni off his fork)—"It has crawled off."

SHE OVERDID THE MATTER.—"I thought," said the boy's mother, "that I told you I wanted you to stay where I could put my hand on you?" "I-I-didn't know," he whimpered, "that ye wanted me to git across yer knee an' stay there."—Washington Post.

MECHANICAL SCIENCE

THE practice of "cold sawing" steel and iron is being generally adopted.

IMPROVED engine practice has called the adoption of a mechanical device for constant feeding of fuel to the furnaces.

A NEW mode of furnishing power to motor engines by mixing steam with hot gases is creating a great deal of interest in English circles.

PEAT fuel has been found very successful in Russia. It is produced by a patent process, and is cheaper than coal, has less weight and bulk, and contains scarcely any sulphur.

IRON has been rolled to the thinness of 1-1800 of an inch. This excessive tenuity will be understood when it is considered that the thinnest tissue paper measures 1-1200 of an inch.

SCIENCE comes to the front in the manufacture of grindstones. The best now made are composed of a mixture of pulverized quartz, powdered flint, powdered emery, and rubber. This outwear by many years any natural stone.

A Narrow Escape.

Miss Nicholson, a daughter of a farmer residing on Saanich road, came near death a day or two ago. She was in a carriage drawn by a span of horses, when the animals took fright and dashed away. The little lady was thrown out, and those who saw the accident thought to see her killed. By a miracle almost she was not even hurt.

Lost His Mate.

To-day Mr. H. D. Helmcken procured an order at the custom house to allow the swan to be landed that is on board the steamer Quadra. It will be remembered that a pair of these beautiful birds was taken on board the Quadra in Scotland, having been ordered by Mr. Helmcken, who intended to present the birds to the park. Unfortunately one of the swans, the cock, broke out of its coop on the passage out and escaped. Its mate will be placed in the park in the spring, and meantime an effort to procure a mate for her will be made.

The "Galley Slave" held the boards at the Imperial last night and drew a crowded house. To-night the popular and brilliant comedy-drama "The Hidden Hand" will be presented, with Miss Dalgleish as "Capitola," and Mr. Gray as "Wave", Mr. Belmour will play "Old Hurricane" and Mr. Armstrong "Black Donald."

Diamond Drills.

Mr. W. T. Taylor, manager of the Sullivan Diamond Drill Company, of Chicago, left last evening for home via the City of Kingston and N.P.R. Mr. Taylor has been in the province for some time and has started two of his company's drills to work for Messrs. Dunsmuir & Comox, and another in the Kootenay country.

The Pet Stock Show.

The Poultry Dog and Pet Stock Association are making preparations for their show which begins next Tuesday. The exhibition will be held up-stairs in the new market, and a better place for the purpose would be hard to find. The secretary is constantly receiving letters from all parts of the Province as well as Washington and Oregon, from persons who intend exhibiting, so that the show will undoubtedly be the largest and best yet.

Victoria Theatre.

The Sullivan-Harrison combination will arrive this evening on the City of Kingston and appear for this night only at the Victoria in Duncan B. Harrison's melo-drama entitled "Honest Hearts and Willing Hands." The play is a very clever production independent of the performance of the great John L., and the supporting company of sixteen people is far above the average traveling combinations. Mr. Duncan B. Harrison, the author of the play and the company star of Mr. Sullivan, is known as one of the leading actors of the American stage and appeared in this city a few years ago in his own drama "The Paymaster." This will be the last appearance of John L. Sullivan on this coast for some years, and those who visit the Victoria to-night will have a chance to see the world's champion in the role of an actor. This company have played in all the principal cities of America and Australia and have given entire satisfaction to the most select and critical audiences. The company is sure to have a big house to-night as the sale of seats has been large.

Put on the Brakes

The following is from the report of Mr. C. J. Major, auditor of the financial affairs of the city of New Westminster for 1891, to the council: "In submitting the financial statement for the year 1891, I have again to commend the efficiency of your official staff, and to advise that increased accommodation be given them, as it is impossible to do satisfactory work with their present cramped quarters. In my communication a year ago your attention was directed to the large expenditure in excess of the appropriations. I am sorry to find it is my duty to repeat the warning then given, as I find this year a considerably increased deficit. The only possible way to deal with this matter intelligently and to avoid a repetition of it, is to have, as I then stated, the estimates carefully prepared earlier in the year, and the expenditures kept strictly within the appropriations. I have also again to call your attention to the loose manner in which accounts are handed in for payment to the treasurer. In many cases they are not accompanied by the certificate of the party authorized to create the expenditure."

was also vastly different to what actually occurred. By a series of misstatements of August May and by a series of distortions this case has been made a serious one, but between this charge and the testimony in support of it there was a vast deal of difference.

Mr. Taylor went into authorities here on the validity of the habeas corpus course in this case. If there was any original abduction it took place in Seattle, but it is endeavored to prove that, notwithstanding the giving up of the girl by the Frieds on the first demand, and her subsequently running away again, that a fresh offense took place. It was not proved, however, that she went back to the Frieds. If the object of the criminal law is to punish offence, why were not the Fried's punished, and yet not a material witness was brought up for the assizes. If this girl could give material evidence why was she not produced? The Attorney-General's excuse is well known. The statement that a woman could not go into court and give evidence in a case like this was throwing an unwarranted stigma on the administration of justice in this province. The judge, of course, has a right to clear the court, but independently of the innuendoes thrown out by the chief witness, there is nothing in the case that could have brought the blush of shame to the cheek of the purest woman living. On the contrary the child was taken away with the purest motives that of taking her from parents who were not kind to her. Besides the Frieds advised the girl to go with her parents. The most far fetched slur that could be cast on this girl was flourishing these letters and asking Mr. Belyea to smell them. The only object that Mr. Attorney-General could have was that as they were highly perfumed, the woman who uses perfume to any extent is not a good woman. That is the only meaning that could be taken from that remak.

Mr. Talor concluded with a summary of the contrdcictions to be found in Mr. Belyea's evidence of the statements made in May's declaration.

Owing to press of time, the Attorney-General's remarks and the concluding proceedings of the commission are held over till to-morrow.

THE FIRST SHOT FIRED.

Mr. Bragg Addresses the Electors of Johnson Street Ward.

Mr. William Baker occupied the chair at a meeting held at Spring Ridge last evening by the supporters of Mr. Bragg, one of the candidates for aldermanic honors in Johnson street ward. After having been introduced by the chairman, Mr. Bragg said he had called the meeting with a view of placing before the electors his views, and receiving suggestions that would benefit Johnson street ward. He considered it every body's duty to take an interest in municipal matters. For eight years he had been a resident of Johnson street ward, which he considered had suffered at the hands of its former representatives, who were all residents of the lower portion of the ward. The growing importance of the upper section he considered justified the residents thereof to a representative in the council, so that they might have their share of the appropriations for improvements. If returned, he would do his best for the city, Johnson street ward, and especially the upper portion of the ward. He was not prepared to criticize the action of the late council, but was of opinion that some unnecessary work had been done while necessary work had been left undone.

Ex-Alderman Robertson and William Snyder also addressed the meeting.

Another meeting will be held in the Hillside ward school house on Friday evening.

ELECTION ANNOUNCEMENTS.

To the Electors of Johnson St. Ward:

At the request of many Ratepayers and Citizens of the above Ward, I offer myself as a candidate for the City Council. If elected I will give my vote and support to all measures conducive to the welfare of the City at large.

JOHN H. MELDRAM.

Victoria, Jan. 7. 1892. j7

To the Electors of Johnson St. Ward:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—In response to earnest solicitations, I beg to present myself before you as a candidate for Alderman in your Ward. Having no experience in speaking before a public audience, and not intending to make any attempt at the present time, I take this means of announcing that, if elected, I shall endeavor to use my influence in the best interests of Johnson Street Ward in particular, and the entire city in general. I believe reform is needed in many departments of city management; that more benefit should result from the large expenditures made than we now experience; that a more equitable distribution of the city's revenue is required and demanded; that greater care and consideration should be given to the granting of subsidies to new and untried applications; that, whilst recognizing the Tramway system of great convenience and advantage, I protest against the disadvantages arising from the unfinished state of construction of the road, which in many places is dangerous to valuable property. Immediate attention is called for in the matter of street lighting, and I believe residents of outside portions of the city have good cause for complaint. I am in favor of retrenchment in all departments of the city government, when in accordance with good service. Should you favor me with a seat at the Council Board, I shall make it my aim and object at all times to secure a dollar's value for each dollar expended, and purpose to do what I believe to be my straightforward duty, in all places and toward all, without fear or favor, irrespective of class, creed or faction.

Respectfully yours, etc.,

J. C. DEVLIN.

To the Electors of Victoria:

Having been requested to become a candidate for the Mayorship, I have, after consideration, decided to place my services at your disposal and respectfully ask your support.

ROBERT BEAVEN.

21st December, 1891.

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Municipal Electors of the City of Victoria:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—In answer to a numerously and influentially signed requisition inviting me to present myself as a candidate for the Mayorality of our city, I have, after considerable reflection and upon urgent personal solicitation, consented to enter the field. My career as a member of the Aldermanic Board for the last six years is before you, and upon my public record it is for my fellow citizens to judge me. In commencing a campaign the electors and the candidate do well to remember that contests are not won without work, and it is upon the personal influence of my friends, as well as upon their votes, that I confidently rely.

I have the honor to be, Ladies and Gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

jan6 A. J. SMITH.

To the Electors of Yates Street Ward:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—Having been requested by numerous electors of our Ward to become a candidate for your suffrages at the forthcoming Election, I have decided to place my services at your disposal, and respectfully ask for the same earnest support from you at the polls which you have a right to expect from me at the Aldermanic Board if elected to protect your interests there.

I am yours faithfully,

HUGH MACDONALD.

RURAL ENGLAND.

Changes Taking Place in the Social System.

Agricultural Pursuits Being Abandoned by the Young People and the Farming Interests Suffering.

The London Daily News has been making some sensation in England by a series of letters on English "Village Life" in various parts of the island, which go to show that the villages in all the agricultural districts are being rapidly deserted by the young men and women to such a point that, in spite of the aid derived from machinery, the farmers find increasing difficulty in sowing and harvesting their crops, and the parsons are left with empty churches and Sunday-schools, and the squires with few to rule over but the aged and infirm. In fact, it looks as if the economic decay, which for fifteen years has been slowly going on in rural England, was receiving its final impulse from the dislike of the younger generation to country life.

It is not simply agriculture which is threatened with ruin, however, but a social system which has come down to our day almost untouched from the middle ages. In this system the laborer was born and was expected to remain in the village, as "Hodge" or "Chawbacon," and work on the adjacent farms in absolute content. The schooling he got consisted mainly of the church catechism, and he was expected to attend church regularly on pain of the severe displeasure of the parson and the squire. The latter owned most of the cottages, or the whole village, which was then called a "close village," and could drive anybody he pleased out of the parish, and, besides this, he was apt to be a justice of the peace, with large summary powers, an office so often held by the parson. When Hodge got old or sick the ladies of "the great house" or the parsonage gave him and his wife fuel and blankets in the winter and preached resignation to him, and when he got too old for any work they both took refuge in the workhouse, in which, like the great bulk of their class, they died with the consolations of religion.

All this has of late years been greatly changed. The new schools, the railroads, the ocean steamers, the cheap newspapers and the political agitators have opened up the world to Hodge's astonished gaze, and he refuses any longer to live under the parish triumvirate—the squire, the parson and the farmer. He goes off to the great towns or emigrates, and, if he remains, is so saucy and independent and so ungrateful for the coal, the blankets and the workhouse that he is practically unmanageable. The vote has given the final touch to his impudence, and in many parts of rural England the end of the world seems to the little circle in the manor house and the vicarage to be very near at hand.

There was a great deal in the old order that was attractive, only there was no place in it for the mental growth or the social advancement of the laborer. It was a delightful arrangement for the farmer, the vicar and the squire, and was probably the best ever devised since the Roman republic fell for the supply of great statesmen, soldiers and judges to the state, but it was full of elaborate provisions for crushing out hope and ambition in the poor man. Certainly no modern community has ever had such a supply of first-rate public servants to draw on as the manor houses all over England, Scotland and Ireland furnished. The "younger sons" may be said to have made England great and built up the British empire, but their day is done. Hodge refuses any longer to be sacrificed to the national greatness.

There is something pathetic in the swarm of letters the Daily News is receiving suggesting ways of making village life attractive and keeping the young men and maids at home, but they have all a futile air. The Spectator brushes aside all the little devices for saving the old village by frankly acknowledging that the tendency of population to the towns is irresistible, and that the world must accept the fact that agriculture has become, or is fast becoming, a discredited occupation which none but the laggards or invalids of the industrial army will hereafter consent to follow.

NO ROMANCE.

The Man Had Never Worked and Didn't Mean To.

A dilapidated-looking specimen of humanity approached a well-dressed business man on Montague street yesterday and requested the loan of ten cents. He was accommodated and the well-dressed man inquired:

"You have seen better days, I presume?"

"No, sir; I haven't."

"Probably been suffering from some incurable disease all your life?"

"No, sir. On the contrary, I have never been sick in my life."

"Maybe your happy home was broken up by some good-looking scoundrel, and you are searching for him?"

"Nope; never had a happy home."

"Is it possible that there are no romantic incidents connected with your career?"

"Nope—not one. I've never worked a day in my life, and probably never will. As long as I can get some good-natured duffer like you to give me the necessary I don't have to work."

And the gentleman who had never worked made his exit in the direction of a near-by saloon.—Brooklyn Citizen.

THE TRAGEDY AT SALT SPRING ISLAND.

TO THE EDITOR.—In your weekly of the 1st inst., under the above heading, you have done the late Mr. Brown a great injustice, which I am sure only needs pointing out to you to be rectified. First, you say he was a heavy drinker. He has been an intimate friend of mine for 14 years and I have not seen him the worse for liquor four times during the whole of that period. Then you say he was in the habit of going away for months together, leaving his wife with Darrington. That is not true. Mr. Brown was largely connected with gas works in England, which necessitated his presence there nearly every year, but he always left Mrs. Brown amply provided for. When he left for England last spring he left a respectable married man in charge of his farm and never had seen Darrington in his life. Darrington was engaged by Mrs. Brown in his absence. As to the great debauch on the night of the murder, the post mortem found no traces of that. I would say in conclusion that he was an upright, honorable business man, and very generally respected on Salt Spring Island.

FREDERICK FOORD.

HATS OFF IN CHURCH.

TO THE EDITOR:—Friends attending the funeral of the late Frank Randolph were unwilling witnesses of what they regard as an act of desecration. It would be interesting to know on what grounds the Knights of Pythias (Uniform Rank) can sustain their presumption in entering a consecrated place of worship with their heads covered, and remaining in that condition throughout the service. They will find nothing in the military code to justify themselves. This I know from actual experience of the militia service. A more extraordinary abuse of privileges granted could hardly be mentioned. In Ontario and the Eastern States of America I have seen the K. of P. turn out by the hundred to carry out their funeral duties, and those who have been able to get inside the House of God have always, as a matter of decency, uncovered their heads. But whether the action of the local are in accordance with a recent innovation with the order or not, they, as well as all fraternal societies, must be given to understand that the rules of a Christian church are not subordinate to those of any secular body, no matter how good their intentions may be, and the object of this letter is to give warning, that any society attempting to act otherwise must not be surprised if they find the doors of any Christian denomination closed against them.

INDIGNANT MEMBER OF CONGREGATION

Ottawa Poisoning Case.

OTTAWA, Jan. 6.—It was reported last Saturday that Labelle had been arrested for the murder of his wife, but in fact he was only arrested to-day by the police, although they have been looking up evidence since then. An information was sworn out by his brother-in-law, Patrick Flannigan, who swears that Labelle did wilfully and feloniously murder Catharine Labelle. Particulars as to how Mrs. Labelle was found dead in bed were given in the TIMES some days ago. The case was investigated before the coroner and an open verdict given.

Germans Starving in Russia.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—The Berlin correspondent of the News says: Pastors of a number of German colonies in Russia have appealed direct to the German consulate in St. Petersburg for assistance to prevent thousands of Germans from starving. It is said they will not only suffer from famine, but are exposed to cruelties from a fanatic mob who accuse them of being responsible for the failure of crops. Several Germans were killed and their houses burned.

School Social.

The Gordon Head School Christmas social turned out to be a grand success. A large gathering of parents and children, over one hundred in number, assembled to do honor to the occasion. The Christmas tree was heavily laden with presents from Santa Claus for both teacher and pupils. The programme, which was most excellent, consisted of recitations by the pupils, vocal music by James Grant and wife and ladies of Cedar Hill School District. Mrs. Kall kindly presided at the organ in an able manner.

Heroism of a Girl.

A girl of eighteen years, the daughter of a sea captain, recently navigated her father's ship when he and all the crew were down with yellow fever. The bark, a coasting vessel, bound from South America to Savannah, was last spoken at sea off Navassa, when all hands were reported ill with yellow fever, and no attempt was made by the vessel which reported her to give any assistance. The master of the bark had with him on board his only daughter, who appears to have been the last to catch the fever. With the aid of one or two sailors, who managed to crawl to the deck, she navigated the vessel for several hundreds of miles, and succeeded in reaching port with the crew dead and dying and the captain in a critical condition.

WINDING UP CITY BUSINESS.

The City Council Bringing Municipal Affairs of the Year 1891 to a Close.

His Worship Mayor Grant adorned the chair of the chief magistrate last evening for probably the last time, and round the board were several councillors whose duties to the public are for the present, at least, nearing a close. Ald. A. J. Smith found Ald. Munn in his chair, and the latter begged his worshi—alderman's pardon. Alderman Coughlan was there, also Ald. Robertson's portly form and good natured face was among the passing figures in this annual procession. He has served two years this time, and scarcely has there been such an indefatigable and earnest worker in the workshop, the benches in which are so much coveted now. He was in for a term seven years ago and "left in disgust." Ald. Hunter was present. This is his first term and he has worked hard, both in council and committee. He doesn't say very much, and his speeches are not very long, but he has the happy faculty of being intensely practical. He seeks re-election, and the fact of his having been returned last year at the head of the poll augurs favorably for his prospects in the present contest. Ald. Munn took second place on the last occasion; his record in the council has not been such as to lose for him a similar, if not a greater honor this year. Ald. Renouf's first year as city finance minister will be his last, so he has decided himself. To a certain extent the chairman of the finance committee is an isolated personage in the council. He has extensive responsibilities, and has in a sense to fit with weapons of economy the expending spirits of the rest of the board. Ald. Holland felt jubilant last evening, and as he danced a minuet on the pavement outside the City Hall, in company with the Mayor, he remarked that he felt as though five hundred pounds weight (avoirdupois) had been taken off his shoulders.

There was an evident disposition to get through business, and consequently things were put along at a good rate. The annual reports were left over till Saturday afternoon, when a special meeting will be held to consider them. The financial report will be ready Monday evening.

CIVIC COMMUNICATIONS.

A feature of several of the epistles was their being ante-dated to January, 1891.

James Haggerty wrote with reference to the purchase of certain rock, and asking for a settlement at once.—Referred to the street committee.

F. A. Jackson wrote calling attention condition of Avilon street.—Referred to the proper committee with power to act.

B. C. Land & Investment Co. claimed a refund on amount of taxes paid for certain property owners on improvements. The amount was $1700 odd.—Referred to the city barristers.

Simeon Duck and others made similar applications and were disposed of in the same manner.

The proprietor of Everett's Exchange, Esquimalt road, wrote complaining of an excessive license on his premises. He had been accustomed to paying but $60, and could not afford to pay the amount of $200 asked by the city.

Ald. Renouf stated there could be no change made. Mr. Everett was now within the city limits and must pay the city tax. He moved accordingly.

Ald. Coughlan asked if $200 was paid by all the saloons in the city. Several houses here have been paying only $70 for years past, and if $200 was paid this year it was the first time.

Ald. Renouf explained that on the extension of the city limits it was agreed that these suburban saloons should only pay the $60 during 1891, but after that they would have to pay the $200.

The motion was carried.

Sisters St. Ann wrote thanking the council for its donation of water to the convent. The good sisters extended to the council the compliments of the season, for which the council returned thanks.

John T. Pierre sent in a claim for $150 for damages done to his stock in the cellar during the recent rains.

The claim was referred to the streets committee for investigation.

J. McB. Smith, Provincial Government auditor, wrote enclosing a statement showing the amount paid by the Government for teachers' salaries in the city of Victoria for the half year ending 31st December, 1891, one half of which sum, $6215, will be due and payable within thirty days from date.

This was referred to finance committee for payment if found correct.

Chas. Penwell and others petitioned for a sidewalk on Milne street, Fernwood, or if the council would give the plank they would lay it at their own cost.—Referred to the street committee for report.

Ald. Holland asked leave to introduce a by-law for regulating the establishment of Chinese wash-houses.

Leave was granted and the by-law was read a first time, to be read a second time on Monday.

The street committee reported on several matters of detail and made the usual recommendations.

The license committee reported on the application of Cameron, Currie & Co. for a refund of the license collected from their representative, Major C. Clapham. The committee recommended that no refund be made, as the license was regularly collected.

The report was adopted.

Ald. Munn moved:—That inasmuch as it is desirable that the traffic of heavy teams in Beacon Hill Park should be discontinued as soon as possible; Therefore be it resolved that the street committee be requested to interview Mr. G. A. McTavish with a view to ascertaining what arrangement can be made with him to open up Wallace street to connect with Humboldt, and to report to the council at its next meeting.

His Worship thought the offer of Mr. McTavish in this respect was a reasonable one.

Ald. Smith said with respect to opening up Heywood avenue, if the council would give the street committee permission to have that work done it would be attended to forthwith, with, of course, the consent of his colleagues.

His Worship—Where is the money?

Ald. Smith (laughingly)—We are under the incoming council now.

Ald. Renouf objected to the spending of any money for the new council, or entailing any expense that they would have to bear. When the council took office last year there were a lot of bills waiting, and it was not pleasant.

Ald. Munn—The idea of the report is not to be binding on the next council, but merely for the moral effect, the recommending of it.

His Worship—That is what I thought.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Sheppard, chief of city police, submitted the report of the sergeant and officers who had charge of the burned Chinese wash-house. The statements denied that any articles had been allowed to be taken away till the building was properly handed over to the Chinese.

The council rose at a quarter to ten o'clock, and will have the next session at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS.

OLE BULL'S son, who is about twenty years old, will soon make his debut in Paris as a violinist.

THE organ in the music room of the residence of the late Mrs. Hopkins Searles at Great Barrington, Mass., cost $100,000.

BRAHMS has been very industrious the past summer. He has written several new songs, a clarinet trio and another set of gypsy songs for a quartette of vocalists, with a piano accompaniment.

THE composer Rubenstein has in hand three pieces of work, the production of which is awaited with eagerness by the musical world. These are an oratorio called "Moses," a volume of "Thoughts and Maxims on Music," and an opera based on an episode in the history of Russia.

THERE is something about the cedar logs that are now being exhumed in Cape May county, N. J., and that are said to have been buried for more than 2,000 years, that imparts a soft and melodious tone to a violin, and the logs are being cut up for the making of such instruments.

ELECTRICAL PROGRESS.

MORE than 500,000 people are engaged in the electrical pursuits in the United States.

THE Western Union Telegraph Company's collection of unused patents is said to be the largest in the world.

TWO HUNDRED women are employed by Edison in working at the more delicate details of his electrical inventions.

COFFEE mills for grocery stores are now run by electricity. The motor is placed at the foot of the stand, and the power required is 110 volts.

IT is an acknowledged fact, says the Electrical Review, that the change from horse power to electric power increases the travel on street cars.

PHOSPHORUS is now being made by electricity. The principal manufactory is in England, where it is anticipated fully one thousand tons will be made annually.

ELECTRIC welding has been found, it is said, to produce the most satisfactory results in the manufacture of bicycles, and is extensively used in the large factories for all welding and brazing processes.

HINTS FOR THE HOME.

THE best tooth brush to be had is a bristle badger that has not been bleached or dyed.

AN English lady declares that mustard plaster on the elbow will cure neuralgia in the face, and on the back of the neck will cure it in the head.

THE following is a splendid liniment for chilblains: One ounce of camphor gum, four fluid ounces of olive oil. Dissolve together by a gentle heat and apply to the afflicted parts.

BABIES should be looked after with particular care lest they take cold. The best clothing is that which is warm and at the same time light. Flannel is the best material for all seasons of the year.

Dyspepsia

Intense Suffering for 8 years—Restored to Perfect Health.

Few people have suffered more severely from dyspepsia than Mr. E. A. McMahon, a well known grocer of Staunton, Va. He says: "Before 1878 I was in excellent health, weighing over 200 pounds. In that year an ailment developed into acute dyspepsia, and soon I was reduced to 162 pounds, suffering burning sensations in the stomach, palpitation of the heart, nausea, and indigestion. I could not sleep, lost all heart in my work, had fits of melancholia, and for days at a time I would have welcomed death. I became morose, sullen and irritable, and for eight years life was a burden. I tried many physicians and many remedies. One day a workman employed by me suggested that I take Sarsaparilla, as it had cured his wife of dyspepsia. I did so, and before taking the whole of a bottle I began to feel like a new man. The terrible pains to which I had been subjected, ceased, the palpitation of the heart subsided, my stomach became easier, nausea disappeared, and my entire system began to tone up. With returning strength came activity of mind and body. Before the fifth bottle was taken I had regained my former weight and natural condition. I am today well and I ascribe it to taking Hood's Sarsaparilla."

WHARF AND WAVE.

Jottings of Interest to Marine Men Concisely Compiled.

Vancouver sealer Beatrice has sailed on her spring cruise. She is the first sealer to go out.

The fine American ship Lincoln, well known on this coast, has been burned at Sydney, N.S.W.

Steamer Olympian left Port Townsend yesterday for Portland, where she will be overhauled.

Steamer City of Kingston will shortly be laid up to be painted and overhauled for the summer trade.

Steamer Clyde of Vancouver has been got off the beach at the mouth of the Fraser, and is hauled up for repairs.

Steamer North Pacific will come over from the Sound to-morrow in place of the Victorian, which goes around to the Columbia River.

The Norwegian bark Czar, on her way from Rio Janeiro to this port, will be ordered to the Sound on her arrival to load for Australia.

A number of seafaring men can be seen about the custom house every day now. They are the prospective crews of the sealing fleet now fitting out.

Capt. Golter of Seattle is to purchase a $10,000 interest in the Columbia River & Puget Sound Navigation Co., and will go as master of the new steamer Flyer.

Customs Inspector Thompson of Seattle has convicted two small steamers of that port of running without a licensed engineer or pilot. Fines of $100 in each case were imposed.

Norwegian bark Agnes left San Diego for Port Townsend on the 4th of December, and has not been spoken since. She is long overdue and her consigners are anxious about her.

The sealer Sea Lion, Capt. Bucholz, is alongside Spratt's wharf taking on stores and supplies for her spring cruise. She is to sail on Monday and will be one of the first of the Victoria fleet to sail.

A heavy locomotive for the Union mines at Comox is being taken from Vancouver by the steamer Thistle. Messrs. Dunsmuir have gone over to the terminal city to see to the loading of the heavy piece of machinery.

Notice is given that a bell buoy, painted red without number, has been moored in 36 feet at low water, to mark the end of the spit about one-quarter nautical mile to the northward of Duwamish head, Puget Sound, Washington.

Already quite a number of sealing schooners have hauled alongside the wharves to fit out for the spring cruise, and things are quite lively along the water front in consequence. The many hands employed in the work is indicative of the importance of the sealing business to Victoria.

The immense American ship Shenandoah, which a few months ago outsailed two English vessels in a race from the Pacific coast to France, is now trying its speed against another British craft, a brand new competitor, the Clyde-built Swanhilda. The two are on the road from Havre. It is the initial performance of the Swanhilda. She left Havre on Christmas day eve. The Shenandoah followed Christmas morning. An officer of the French line of steamers here last week says Captain Murphy of the Yankee clipper bet Captain Mitchell of the Swanhilda that he would reach Sandy Hook in the van. The amount is said to be $1000.

The crew of non-union engineers lately on the steamer Sehome have gone and union men are in charge. It is stated that shortly after the late trouble between the pilots and engineers a deputation of the latter body was sent to Captain Rathbone, of the Union Pacific Railway's line, and informed him that unless Captain McAlpine and his non-union crew were discharged every Union Pacific boat would be tied up. The Union Pacific yielded, and the illness of Captain McAlpine's wife, requiring his presence in California, was made a blind to cover the fact that Captain McAlpine had been retired. On Monday the performance of the agreement was consummated by the discharge of the non-union crew of engineers. It is rumored that the Brotherhood of Engineers, now having demonstrated its power, will shortly declare the boycott on Captain McAlpine off.
